

| Welcome to The Training Hub

Thank you for enquiring about creating or reviewing training material for us. Before we explain how you can help, we would like to tell you a little about The Training Hub.

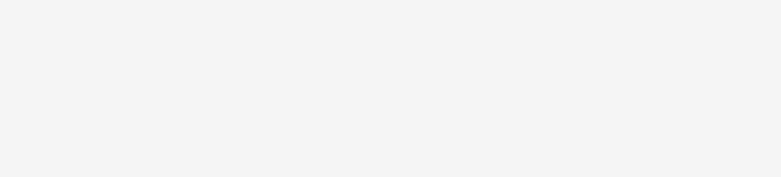

FOUNDER

It only takes one person to initiate change

Neil Degg knows what the future can look like for someone from a deprived background or lacks a good education. Raised in a part of Manchester with high unemployment and low educational outcomes, he was already getting into trouble by the age of six. Coupled with a father that was emotionally absent and a mother doing her best to keep the family together, life was always going to be a challenge.

By age 15, Neil was living in a homeless unit. Alienated from the kind of network of support a person needs to make healthy choices, his life continued to spiral downward.

FEATURED BY

Reflecting on those times, he says, “I wasn’t thinking about how my behaviour was impacting other people. I was just trying to survive in the only way I knew how.”

Neil launched The Training Hub in 2014.

Proudly featured in Forbes and showcased on the BBC for the outcomes achieved with children, young people and adults, The Training Hub provides training resources across multiple sectors supporting an individuals career alongside free preventative, life skill, parental and mental health resources for all age groups.

Things only began to change for Neil when, at 28, he was given the opportunity to work in social care. “I instantly resonated with the environment I found myself in. I understood the challenges faced by young people in care and adults who lacked an education or were from a marginalised background. I could see why they often failed.”

“I realised that had I received the right encouragement, education and opportunity I could possibly have contributed positively to society a lot sooner. I could see that this is exactly what everyone needs, especially from a very young age.”

Neil felt that he could make a positive contribution to the lives of others through his own lived experiences. “Engagement is pivotal for an individual to be inspired to invest time in themselves. Everyone’s experience of life regardless of age determines their ability to see the value in something. Unfortunately life can sometimes make the possible seem impossible but we must never stop trying to unlock each individua’s potential.’

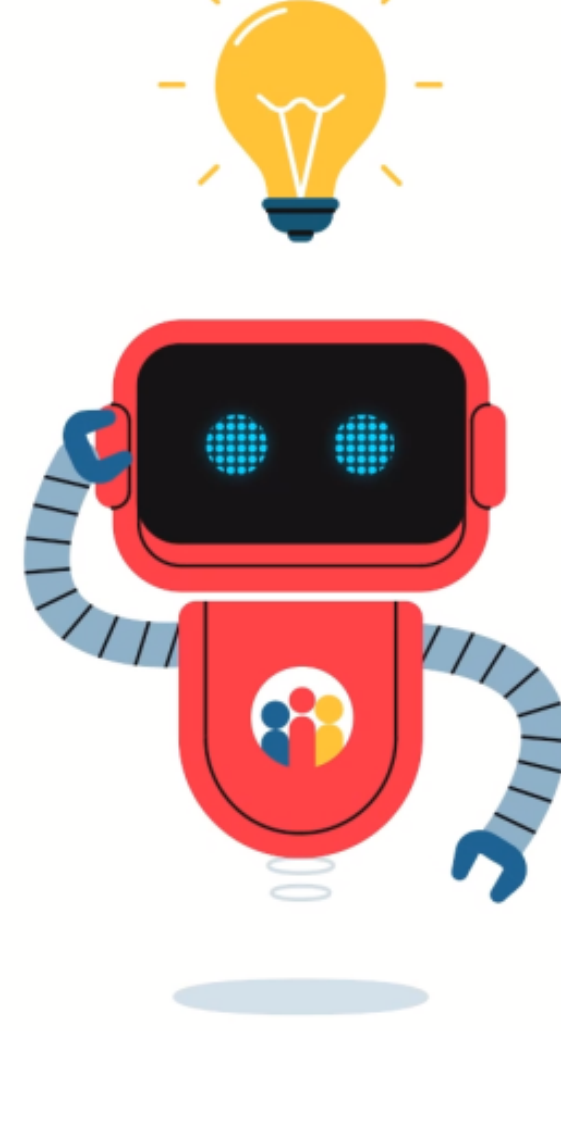

Education is the passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to those who prepare for it today. – Malcolm X

COLLABORATION

A network that makes a difference

We work with over 3,000 exceptional experts and practitioners within multiple sectors to create content that is engaging and delivers the learning outcomes our learners need.

Our training recognises that every individual is unique with different learning styles and accessibility needs, so it blends games, video, reading, writing and reflective practises. As standard, every course comes with supporting material and assessments.

PASSION

Driven by passion

At The Training Hub, we are driven by a passion to help every person we engage with to become the best version of themselves.

The Training Hub prides itself on providing exceptional vocational training resources that help each individual to learn, engage and grow from birth and throughout adulthood.

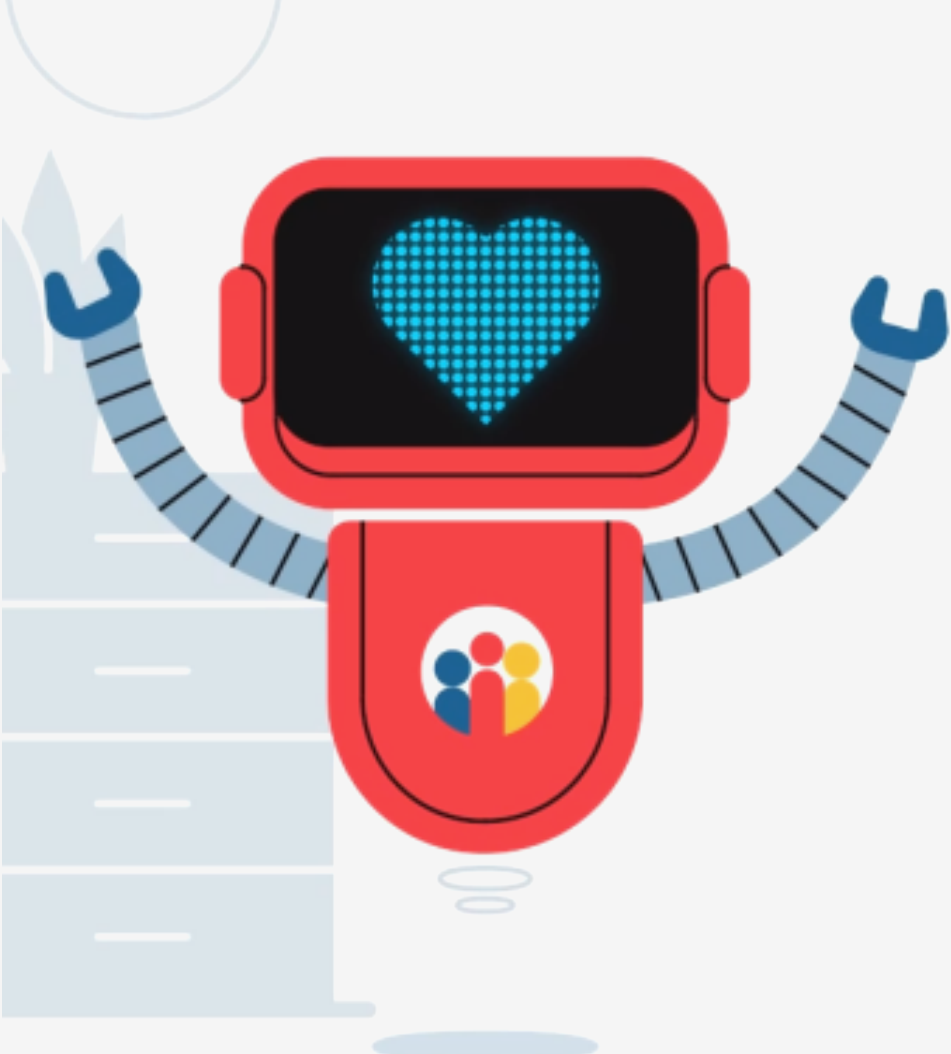

The Training Hub’s sole focus is to support each person’s mental health and basic life skills, and provide practical solutions to the everyday issues that can impact a person’s life chances.

THE FUTURE

Long-term goals

Our long-term goal is to reach all 7.8 billion adults across the globe within multiple sectors. We want to ensure they have access to exceptional vocational training to match their career ambitions – training that is accessible for every human being regardless of background, disability or needs.

Making our amazing resources totally free of charge to all children, young people and adults across the globe is what drives our vision. We offer preventative, life skills, parental and mental health resources that make a real difference to a person’s life outcomes.

WHY DO WE NEED YOU?

Because you are amazing

We understand that face-to-face training should always be the training of choice as the benefits massively outweigh alternatives, such as online or virtual. However, over the past few years, more and more training has moved online because of the need to balance accessibility and logistics, alongside financial restraints. We have seen an acceleration in this trend since the pandemic, which disrupted how an organisation upskills its children, young people and adults.

Online and virtual training is now a well-ingrained part of our training culture when face-to-face is not feasible.

We are looking for subject matter experts to work with us to create training material which will be created into amazing online courses, and to review and update our existing online courses every 12 months.

But we are not interested in just any type of content for our training courses. We believe our learners deserve the best possible chance of success. This means delivering content that is well-researched, constructed and compiled by experts in their field, people like yourself who have spent years mastering their subject so have a deep understanding of their chosen sector.

We’re looking to grow our network of experts so that we can help empower even more children, young people and adults with the best possible training so that they can flourish in life.

WHAT DO WE DO WITH YOUR TRAINING MATERIAL?

The process to make a difference begins

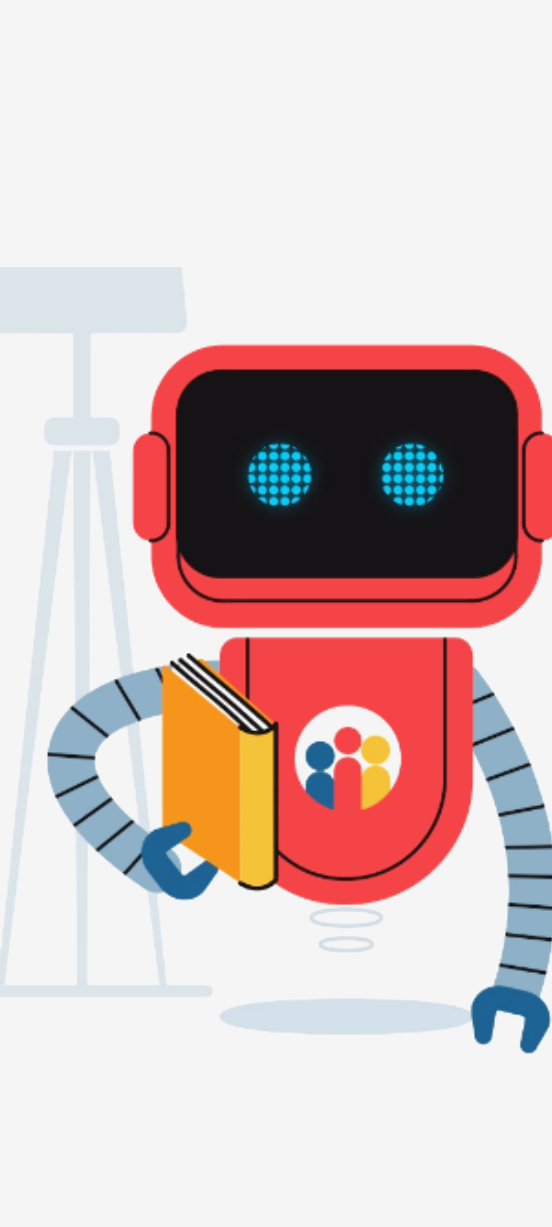

- 1 Once we receive your training material, it is then passed over to a team of lead experts who specialise in analysing your content to ensure that it fully adheres to the sector, subject, level & age range it has been designed for.
- 2 Once a piece of training material has been passed, it goes over to our creative consultants who ensure no spelling & grammatical errors exist, along with sourcing suitable images to enhance the training material. Reflective elements are created along with a set number of questions & answers which will be used within the final online course.
- 3 The final part of the process is completed by our team of course creators who take the final content & create it into an interactive, engaging & impactful online course.
- 4 Alongside the training material being created into an interactive online course, a specialist handbook will be created based on the training material which is available for a learner to download & keep.
- 5 The online course that is created based on your training material is made available to our entire network.

BENEFITS TO YOU

Your training material will make a difference

We pay a flat fee depending on the type of work you do for us. We also include a profile about you alongside the online course once it is launched. The profile enables other organisations to approach you for further freelance work, but it is entirely optional.

You will feel super proud to know that your training material is making a difference to thousands of children, young people & adults.

Robert Fox
SUBJECT MATTER EXPERT

Robert Fox is a trainer specialising in health and safety, first aid, and fire safety.

With previous experience also working in a children’s home and 5 years of being a foster carer, Robert has experienced working with looked after children first hand and knows how to handle certain situations as and when they arise.

Robert is passionate about helping young people, and the adults supporting young people in order to help them have a better future.

Consultancy

- LOCATION
- ALL SERVICES
- EMAIL@LINK.COM

Sector

- FOSTERCARE
- CHILDREN HOME

| Would you like to create training material for us?

Please send an email with the below information to: experts@thetraininghub.com

- Full name
- Primary sector you specialise in
- Email address
- Summary of your background
- Mobile number

Thank you for your time today. We look forward to working with you. If you wish to discuss things further or have any subject suggestions, please email experts@thetraininghub.com